

Dharma the Cat

On the rocky road to Nirvana with a Buddhist cat, a novice monk and a mouse hell-bent on cheese.

Philosophy With Fur

CARTOONS

that blend philosophy and spirituality with humor -- "havoc, farce and mayhem on the rocky path to nirvana with a Buddhist cat, a novice monk and a mouse hell-bent on cheese!"

Welcome to the How Not To school of wisdom and insight! Dharma The Cat observes from a cool place as Bodhi the novice monk stumbles earnestly along the Buddha's Noble Path, stepping into every spiritual pitfall along the way -- thus kindly shedding light on what the rest of us may avoid.

"TIME"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

Human perception of time, like other things, is illusory. That's one of the many human foibles I can use to my advantage!

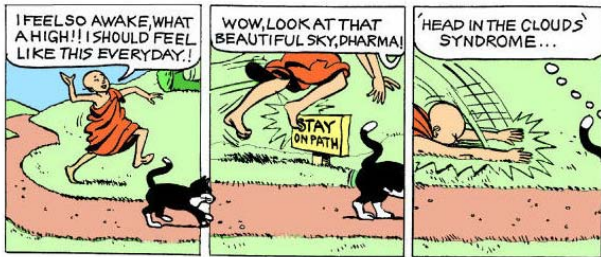

"THE LESSON"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

Sometimes when you try to teach others,
they teach you!

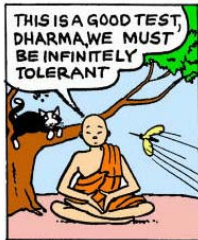

"MINDFULNESS"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

When your head's in the clouds,
your feet miss the path!

"TOLERANCE"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

It's easy to be tolerant when nothing's bugging you!

"GUILT"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

Humans make themselves feel guilty,
and then blame others for it!

"RULES"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

Rules, schmoolz! Certain persons just shouldn't try to outsmart certain other persons!

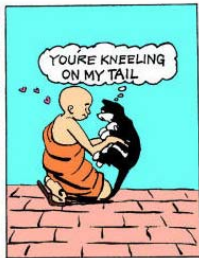

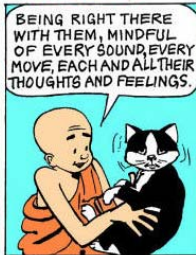

"EGO"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

Humans tend to miss the point.

"LOVE IS"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

One of the human foibles I'm most wary of is when people make 'unsolicited announcements' about themselves. When you hear one of these, watch your tail!

"CONTROL"

DHARMA THE CAT SAYS

Controlling humans is a lot easier than hunting!
